Adrienne Johnson: Is it possible to do this technique virtually?

Adrienne Johnson: the nominal consensus technique

Adrienne Johnson: wonderful, thank you!

Michelle Rauzi: @ AJ We did a nominal consensus technique during 2 different lab meetings to discuss innovation / future research directions; it involved some pre-work since we were limited to 2.5 hours. We used poll everywhere (I think) during the meeting to get further anonymous information

Adrienne Johnson: great, thank you all!

Bryan Ford: Handout found here: <https://coprhcon.learningtimesevents.org/wp-content/uploads/2020/07/ConsensusMethods-Morris.pdf>

Denise Smith: Are there quantitative consensus methods that are commonly used?

Cole Hooley: Is concept mapping considered a consensus method?

Cole Hooley: Thanks, that's great!

Michael Harris-Love: Thanks Megan!
